Guidelines on Science Immersion Program with remote (at-home) experiments

1. Protocols and details of remote experiments shall be included on the SIP Host Agency Reply Form (PSHS-00-F-DSA-19-Ver02-Rev0-02/01/20) two (2) weeks prior to the start of the immersion program. The PSHS System upon the request of the partner-agency shall evaluate the use of at-home kits and provide guidance on health and safety considerations to perform remote experiments.
2. To ensure that remote experiments at home are safe, positive learning experiences, students and parents should read, discuss, and sign the safety training agreement. The student, parent, and supervisor should keep a copy for their records.
3. Supervisor should use commercially available kits, and should consider whether students will be able to order kits to their home address. Some vendors ship their kits to schools and businesses only and not to individuals or a residential address.
4. Supervisor should discuss to the students on how to perform the experiment by using video component through distance learning instruction. Ensure that safety precautions/guidance is incorporated into the kit instructions.
5. Students will provide their own Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) if applicable and if it is not provided in the kit. Experiments that normally require a fume hood or other specialized safety equipment are not permitted.
6. Students need to follow safety precautions at home enumerated below:
  - should only perform experiments recommended by the supervisor;
  - should properly be prepared to do the experiment by having all necessary materials and the directions readily available. Do not substitute any materials without getting approval from the supervisor;
  - should make sure that all safety warnings are clearly understood in relation to the experiments that will be performed. Any questions or confusion in doing the experiment should be discussed with the supervisor and should not proceed without any clear clarification;
  - should perform all experiments on surfaces that can be easily cleaned or wiped up to protect any surface against any materials which could stain or damage countertops or furniture;
  - should wear a closed-toed shoes and clothing that cover the arms and legs should be followed. Long hair should be tied;
  - should not eat, drink, while performing the experiments. They should not taste, eat or drink any materials they work within an experiment;
  - should wash hands with soap and water before and after every experiment;
  - should clean the work surfaces with an appropriate disinfectant frequently; and separately wash clothing worn after the experiment;

- should inform the supervisor if any of the experiments will cause him/her allergy;
- should be aware of the location of first aid kit and home emergency exit in case of emergency;
- should report all accidents, injuries, and close calls to the supervisor and parents/guardian immediately.
